IDIOT DRAW

Walter Petty, the Loraine Automobile man was on our streets Monday.

Here is hoping that the present owner of The Signal may have a prosperous new year and give us a newspaper up-to-date; and we hope the former owners a successful undertaking in any line of business that they may undertake.

Mr. Bass Landers of your town and Miss Jessie Brown of Bookout were married Sunday at Fluvanna and their many friends would be glad to know that their paths will be lined with the choicest of roses.

Some of our best farmers are ripening up the gravel preparing for a bumper crop.

Sunday school still continues at Bookout.

Our literary school at White Bluff keeps on with a full attendance during the cold weather, with Miss Lena Pfeirman as teacher.

We have had lots of snow and bad weather of late, but I don't suppose that will be news to anyone.

Tom P. Martin and his other half were visiting at L. N. Perriman's Sunday and I guess Tom is a good cake maker, but I do not think he ought to be so very high for his cake receipts.

I was sorry to note in The Signal the death of Uncle Dock Bynum, an honorable old timer, upright citizen and ex-confederate soldier. This is another reminder that our ranks are thinning fast. Soon we will be only a matter of history.

Our merchants, Smith and Lambert of Dermott are moving their stock of goods to Dunn this week.

For want of something of interest I will close.

K. LAMITY
Many thanks for your good wishes, K. Lamity. Come often—Ed.
